EUGENIE'S FORTUNE.

The Empress Eugenie is reported to be very wealthy. Her property really consists of three houses in the Rue de l'Elysee, valued at $120,000, but mortgaged for $100,000; two houses in the Rue d'Alba, valued at $180,000, but mortgaged to the Credit Foncier for $160,000; the estate at Les Jucheres; the Solferino estate, valued at $300,000, but on which there is a charge of $200,000; a small estate at Arnes, in the Pyrenees, valued at $8,000; the Palais de l'Elysee, at Biarritz, valued at $200,000; a small mansion in the Rue Courcelles; a chalet at Vichy; the palaces at Versailles, valued at $315,000; a life annuity of $15,000, and the estate she lately bought from Mr. Longman.

An Austin man, says the Texas Siftings, who made a prolonged trip through Mexico, gives us some interesting details of his trip. He says that when he was in the City of Mexico he was shown through some of the old buildings, convents, and jails that were erected by the Spaniards. In the wall of one of the ancient buildings he noticed a small opening, and he naturally inquired of his Mexican guide what it meant. He was told that it was one of the buildings in which criminals were walled up alive. "What was the use of that hole in the wall?" "Well, senior, you see, as long as the prisoner lived his food was handed in to him on a plate, and he handed the empty plate back; but when he handed the plate back with the food on it untouched, then the jailor knew the prisoner was dead already, and didn't give him any more."

The old Judge, who has always been looked upon as the possessor of an iron constitution, calls upon his doctor.

"You here?" says the physician in astonishment; "what can be the matter?"

"Well, doctor, the fact is that I am getting to be a little uneasy about the state of my health."

"Ah! and where is the trouble? In the head? Stomach?"

"No, they're all right, but of late I have been suffering a good deal from insomnia—in court."

"A tall and hairy creature, more or less erect, but with a slouching gait; black-faced and whiskered, with prominent prognathous muzzle, and large, pointed, canine teeth. His forehead low and retreating, with bony bosses underlying the shaggy eyebrows, which gave him a fierce expression, something like that of a gorilla." To prevent any inconvenient personal application, we may explain that this an imaginative description of primitive man, as he may be found in the mid-miocene deposits.

THE EVILS OF PAINTING

And their Remedy.

"It has been said with much truth, too, that horse painting might, with study and acquirement of taste, resume its rank as a liberal art."—Painters' Manual.

Believing the above to be true, A. B. KERR has now re-organized his system of working the business in Honolulu. In the first place he has secured the services of that celebrated artist, Mr. MAX KOUN, formerly of San Francisco, whose work in the line of plain and decorative paper-hanging, frescoing, &c., is up to the present time unsurpassed, and on these Islands has never been equalled. For house painting jobs first-class mechanics only will be employed. In future patrons can depend upon my filling every order on the most scientific basis known to the trade.

The Sign Painting and Lettering department will be permanently presided over by Mr. GEO. STRATMEYER, (further comment unnecessary.)

P.S.—Send for designs of frescos for ceiling and cornices. Something new; and if you want any glass put in call at
